Taylor Fogleman

Taylor Fogleman, who has guided the Tigers to four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, back-to-back NCAA Elite Eight berths and the program's first SEC Tournament Championship appearance, enters his fifth year as head coach of the LSU women's tennis program ahead of the 2026-27 season.

In his fourth season in Baton Rouge, Fogleman continued the program's historic rise during the 2025-26 campaign, guiding LSU to a 22-10 overall record, a top-five national ranking, the program's first SEC Tournament Championship appearance and a second consecutive NCAA Elite Eight berth. Under Fogleman, Cadence Brace earned ITA Singles All-American honors for the second consecutive season and First Team All-SEC recognition, while Kayla Cross, Ella McDonald and Addison Lanton earned Second Team All-SEC honors. Lanton was also named to the SEC All-Freshman Team and earned ITA Southern Region Rookie of the Year honors, while McDonald was selected as the ITA Southern Region Player to Watch. Associate Head Coach Chris Simpson was named ITA Southern Region Assistant Coach of the Year.

Coach Fogleman created a formidable and historic program in his third year, where the 2024-25 season saw the Tigers post a 24-8 overall record, tied for program-best, as well as a program-leading 10 conference regular season victories. Fogleman oversaw the development of the program and added more star power to the roster with freshmen Cadence Brace, Kayla Cross, Tilwith Di Girolami, and Indi Patel, and most recently, Carolina Kuhl, Addison Lanton, Alexia Marginean, and Ioana Sava. Fogleman's third season in Baton Rouge saw countless records being broken, such as, in February, the highest ranked victory against No. 3 Oklahoma State, 4-0, at the program's first ITA National Indoor Championship appearance since 2019. A month later, the Tigers improved to a program-best No. 6 ranking, according to the ITA. Fogleman concluded the season with six ranked singles players and three ranked doubles pairings, most notably with Brace ranking No. 8 in singles and No. 6 in doubles with Cross. Under Fogleman, the Tigers overcame No. 4 Ohio State, 4-2, to advance to the club's first NCAA Team Championship. Following the season, countless Tigers were recognized for their achievements, including Brace earning ITA Singles and Doubles All-American honors, becoming the fourth Tiger in program history to earn both singles and doubles All-America honors in the same season, joining Bruna Colosio (2000), Joana Valle Costa (2017) and Anastasiya Komar (2023). Brace was also named the ITA Rookie of the Year and SEC Freshman of the Year, coupled with an All-SEC First Team Selection. Brace became the 10th player in program history to earn first-team All-SEC honors and joins Jade Lewis (2017) as the second Tiger to be named SEC Freshman of the Year. She joins Cross as the sixth and seventh Tigers named to All-Freshman teams for the SEC. Fogleman helped lead the Tigers to a final ITA team ranking of No. 11.

Year two saw Fogleman bring in nine newcomers and improve on the team records achieved in year one. He guided the Tigers to a 16-11 record in the 2024 dual season, three more wins than the 2023 season despite three-time ITA All-American Kylie Collins missing the entire season due to an injury. Under Fogleman, the Tigers earned their first Top 25 win since 2021 when they took down No. 14 South Carolina by a score of 4-1 at the LSU Tennis Complex. LSU returned to the NCAA Tournament for the second straight season, marking the first time in program history that a head coach led their first two teams to the tournament. In the Stanford Regional, the Tigers earned their first NCAA Tournament win since 2021 when they took down No. 34 Baylor by a score of 4-3 in the first round.

Both players and staff members received individual awards under Fogleman's coaching. Two Tigers earned All-SEC honors; Aran Teixidó Garcia earned a spot on the second team while Kenna Erickson became LSU's first freshman on the SEC All-Freshman team since 2018. In the ITA Southern Region's postseason awards, Erickson was named Rookie of the Year while assistant coach Chris Simpson was named the region's Assistant Coach of the Year.

In his first year in Baton Rouge, Fogleman led the Tigers to a 13-11 record, an eight game improvement from the 2021-22 season prior. LSU also picked up its first win in the SEC Tournament since 2019 after outlasting host-team Arkansas in a four hour match that finished 4-3. The Tigers then earned an at-large berth to the 2023 NCAA Tournament, marking the first time in program history that a first-year head coach led the program to the national stage. The Tigers were defeated in the first round of the NCAA Tournament and finished ranked No. 41 in the ITA national team rankings and No. 2 in the ITA Southern Regional rankings.

Under Fogleman, individuals also saw tremendous success. Redshirt freshman Anastasiya Komar had one of the best individual seasons in program history under Fogleman, posting a 33-8 singles record and a 32-10 doubles record. Komar earned individual glory in the form of claiming the ITA Southern Regional's single and doubles (with partner Nikita Vishwase) in October and rolled her good form into the spring season, where she posted a 19-2 record in singles playing primarily at the No. 1 singles court and a 16-4 doubles record with three different partners. Komar qualified as a national seed for both the NCAA Singles & Doubles Championship (with partner Kylie Collins), automatically earning her ITA Singles All-American honors as well as ITA Doubles All-American honors.

In addition to Collins' success in doubles with Komar, the junior enjoyed a strong first-year as a Tiger under Fogleman. Collins was invited to compete at the 2022 ITA All-American Championships in October, college tennis' most prestigious fall tournament featuring the top players across the nation. In the singles draw, Collins took down four strong opponents in straight sets to advance to the singles final, the furthest run for a Tiger at the prestigious tournament, where she finished as a runner-up. Collins spent the spring playing at the top singles and doubles spots for the Tigers and qualified as a national seed for the NCAA Doubles Championship and at-large for the NCAA Singles Championship. Collins was named an ITA Doubles All-American alongside Komar at the end of the season, the third All-American honor of her career dating back to her time as Texas under Fogleman.

Fogleman, the 2021 ITA National Assistant Coach of the Year and a Louisiana native, returned to his home state after spending five seasons in Austin, including his last four as associate head coach.

At Texas, Fogleman proved to be one of the brightest talents in collegiate tennis coaching, recruiting a top-ranked class and helping transform the Longhorns into a national powerhouse. In 2020, he recruited the No. 1 class in the country, including 2022 Singles National Champion and ITA Player of the Year Peyton Stearns. Stearns, the top-ranked player in the 2020 class according to the Universal Tennis Ratings, was one of four top-10 talents Fogleman signed that season, including Charlotte Chavitipon (No. 3 UTR), Kylie Collins (No. 6), and Malaika Rapolu (No. 8). Under Fogleman's tutelage, Stearns finished the 2022 season 33-2.

During Fogleman's time in Austin, the Longhorns won four-straight Big 12 titles, in addition to the 2021 and 2022 national championships. In 2021, he helped guide Collins and Lulu Sun to the Doubles National Championship match, the program's first appearance in the doubles final since 1996. Fogleman was also instrumental in the success of Bianca Turati, who reached No. 1 in the ITA Rankings in 2018 and earned Big 12 Player of the Year that same season. Anna Turati, Bianca's sister, would reach No. 2 in the ITA ratings in 2019. Together, the Turati sisters earned six First Team All-Big 12 selections, one Big 12 Freshman of the Year award, two All-American honors, and five invitations to the NCAA Individual Tournament.

Prior to his time at Texas, Fogleman served as assistant women's tennis coach at Rice (2014-2017) and Tulane (2011-2014). At Rice, Fogleman was a part of three straight Conference USA Championships, the most consecutive titles in league history. In 2015, he earned Texas Region Assistant Coach of the Year honors and was a finalist for National Assistant Coach of the Year. In 2017, he recruited the No. 1 recruit in the country, and in 2016, he landed the nation's top-ranked transfer. At Tulane, where Fogleman earned his MBA in 2014 from the Freeman School of Business, Fogleman coached 10 all-conference players, including 2014 C-USA Player of the Year Klara Vyskocilova.

A 2005 graduate of Jesuit High School in New Orleans, Fogleman became a two-time first-team All-American at the University of North Carolina, where his ranking reached as high as No. 3 nationally in doubles and No. 30 in singles. A team captain in 2008-09, Fogleman reached the NCAA doubles quarterfinals in 2008 and the semifinals in 2009. He earned his degree in communications from UNC in 2009. He and his wife, Lindsay, have three children, Ben, Mae, and Patrick.

Chris Simpson

Chris Simpson, who has helped guide the LSU women's tennis program to four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and back-to-back NCAA Elite Eight berths, enters his second season as associate head coach and fifth season overall with the Tigers ahead of the 2026-27 season.

In his first season as associate head coach in 2025-26, Simpson played an integral role in LSU's 22-10 campaign, helping the Tigers reach a top-five national ranking, the program's first SEC Tournament Championship appearance and a second consecutive NCAA Elite Eight berth. Simpson continued to make an impact in player development and recruiting as Cadence Brace earned her second consecutive ITA Singles All-American honor and four Tigers collected All-SEC recognition. Following the season, Simpson was named ITA Southern Region Assistant Coach of the Year. Addison Lanton earned ITA Southern Region Rookie of the Year honors, while Ella McDonald was selected as the ITA Southern Region Player to Watch.

After a historic 2024-25 campaign, which saw the Tigers tie the all-time best record of 24-8 and the program's first NCAA Team Championship appearance, Simpson played a pivotal role in the program's recruiting success. Simpson also aided the Tigers in a program-best 10 regular-season SEC wins. His efforts helped bring in a strong class that featured the likes of Cadence Brace, Kayla Cross, Tilwith Di Girolami, and Indi Patel, as well as the upcoming class of Carolina Kuhl, Addison Lanton, Alexia Marginean, and Ioana Sava. As a result, Simpson was promoted to Associate Head Coach in August 2025.

In his first three seasons with the program, Simpson has guided his players to six All-American honors, including Brace earning singles and doubles recognition and Cross earning doubles honors this year. Furthermore, Simpson has coached six All-SEC athletes, highlighted most recently by Brace earning SEC Freshman of the Year and First-Team All-SEC honors, while Cross was named to the All-SEC Second Team, with the pair also being named to the All-SEC Freshman Team.

In his second year at the assistant coach role, Simpson helped guide the Tigers to a 16-11 record in 2024, three more wins than 2023 (13-11) with a roster of nine newcomers and a three-time All-American in Kylie Collins missing the entire season due to an injury. In addition to the program's first Top 25 win since 2021 when they took down No. 14 South Carolina, 4-1, LSU earned its first NCAA Tournament win since 2021 when they took down No. 34 Baylor by a score of 4-3 in the first round.

Simpson coached two Tigers who earned All-SEC honors; Teixidó Garcia earned a spot on the second team while Kenna Erickson became LSU's first freshman on the SEC All-Freshman team since 2018. The Tigers finished with a final team ranking of No. 28 in the ITA team rankings and No. 2 in the ITA Southern Region's final team rankings. Individually, Simpson took home the ITA Southern Region's Assistant Coach of the Year honor.

In his first year alongside head coach Taylor Fogleman, Simpson helped coach the Tigers to a 13-11 record, an eight-match improvement from the 2021-22 season prior. LSU also picked up its first win in the SEC Tournament since 2019 after outlasting host-team Arkansas in a four-hour match that finished 4-3. The Tigers then earned an at-large berth to the 2023 NCAA Tournament, its first since 2021. The Tigers were defeated in the first round of the NCAA Tournament and finished ranked No. 41 in the ITA national team rankings and No. 2 in the ITA Southern Regional rankings.

Simpson's coaching saw individuals on the team reach new heights. Redshirt freshman Anastasiya Komar had one of the best individual seasons in program history, posting a 33-8 singles record and a 32-10 doubles record. Komar earned individual glory in the form of claiming the ITA Southern Regional's single and doubles (with partner Nikita Vishwase) in October and rolled her good form into the spring season, where she posted a 19-2 record in singles playing primarily at the No. 1 singles court and a 16-4 doubles record with three different partners. Komar qualified as a national seed for both the NCAA Singles & Doubles

Championship (with partner Kylie Collins), automatically earning her ITA Singles All-American honors as well as ITA Doubles All-American honors.

In addition to Collins' success in doubles with Komar, the junior enjoyed a strong first-year as a Tiger. Collins was invited to compete at the 2022 ITA All-American Championships in October, college tennis' most prestigious fall tournament featuring the top players across the nation. In the singles draw, Collins took down four strong opponents in straight sets to advance to the singles final, the furthest run for a Tiger at the prestigious tournament, where she finished as a runner-up. Collins spent the spring playing at the top singles and doubles spots for the Tigers and qualified as a national seed for the NCAA Doubles Championship and at-large for the NCAA Singles Championship. Collins was named an ITA Doubles All-American alongside Komar at the end of the season, the third All-American honor of her career dating back to her time as Texas.

Simpson, a native of Derby, England, returned to LSU after seven seasons of coaching at Tulane in New Orleans. He served as assistant coach for the women's tennis team from 2015-17 before moving to the men's tennis side in the same role in the fall of 2017. During his time with the men's tennis program, the Green Waves reached the NCAA Tournament three times and captured their first American Athletic Conference title in 2018. Individually, Tulane saw duos qualify for the NCAA Doubles Championship in 2018, 2019, and 2021 under Simpson as well as qualifiers for the NCAA Singles Championship in those same years.

Before his coaching days, Simpson was a member of the LSU men's tennis team from 2011-2015. In his four years of play, he was named All-SEC Second Team three times and qualified for the NCAA Singles Championship in 2013. Simpson finished his playing career as a Tiger with 86 career wins in singles action and 85 in doubles. Simpson's assistant coach he played under at LSU, Danny Bryan, is currently serving as head coach for the LSU men's tennis team.

Ashe Ray

Ashe Ray enters his second season with the LSU women's tennis program and first as associate coach ahead of the 2026-27 season.

In his first season in Baton Rouge, Ray helped LSU post a 22-10 overall record, climb into the top five of the national rankings, advance to the program's first SEC Tournament Championship match and reach the NCAA Elite Eight for the second consecutive season. The Tigers produced four All-SEC selections during the campaign, highlighted by Cadence Brace earning First Team All-SEC honors and her second consecutive ITA Singles All-American distinction. Addison Lanton was named ITA Southern Region Rookie of the Year, while Ella McDonald earned ITA Southern Region Player to Watch honors.

Before his coaching stint, Ray was a four-year player on the men's tennis team at Wofford. In that time, he played primarily at the top of the lineup. Ray earned a spot on the Southern Conference All-Freshman Team in 2020-21 and Southern Conference All-Academic Team in 2021-22.

Ray has competed in ITF futures tournaments at the 15k and 25K level, also serving as a hitting partner for players currently competing on the WTA and ATP tour.

Before coming to Elon, Ray was a four-year player on the men's tennis team at Wofford College playing primarily at the top of the lineup. During his time at Wofford, he earned a spot on the Southern Conference All-Freshman Team in 2020-21 and Southern Conference All-Academic Team in 2021-22.

Ray was a five-star recruit coming from Spartanburg High School where he won multiple state and national team championships ranking as high as No. 2 in South Carolina in his age group. He received the 2015 South Carolina Tennis Association Sportsmanship Award in 2015-16 and the First Rex Maynard Award, given to the Junior Male Player of the Year in South Carolina in 2019-20. Ray has also competed in ITF futures tournaments at the 15k and 25K level. He has also been a hitting partner for players currently competing on the WTA and ATP tour.

Ray graduated from Wofford with a bachelor's degree in finance and accounting with a minor in education.
